Why a Style Guide?

Oregon is home to voters from diverse backgrounds. For voters with limited English proficiency, providing translated elections materials removes voting barriers, promotes meaningful voting experiences, and increases confidence in the U.S. elections system. In 2022, the Oregon Secretary of State implemented HB3021 (2021) and created Oregon Administrative Rules. Requirements were amended in 2024 through SB1533.

The Secretary of State centralized statewide language access subject matter expertise in the Elections Division. Project management and delivery of translated voters' pamphlet and related elections materials is possible through collaboration between county partners, staff in the Elections and Information Services Divisions, professional translations teams, a volunteer Translation Advisory Council (Council), bilingual county employees, and the public. Council members represent the languages of translation, established according to formulas using census data and outlined in statute. The Oregon languages of translation include Arabic, Simplified and Traditional Chinese, Farsi (Persian, Dari), French, German, Hmong, Japanese, Khmer (Cambodian), Korean, Marshallese, Nepali, Russian, Somali, Spanish, Tagalog, Thai, Ukrainian and Vietnamese. Council members review professional translations to ensure that original intent, accuracy and tone are presented in the most culturally appropriate manner.

Glossaries and style guides establish standards to be applied across all translated elections information in the state, regardless of who translated materials or whether it is a state, county, or city election. It is to the voter's benefit to express the same concept in a predictable and uniform way. Variety in translations are an inherent part of the process due to the human elements of language: regional dialects, language preferences, countries of origin, levels of education, and the lived experiences. Without establishing consistent terminology and style, voters may be confused, believe there are more choices than actually exist, or lose confidence in the American voting process.

Translators and reviewers consider the most appropriate styles for the intended audience. Should local landmarks be translated or left in English? Are dates translated in month, day, year order, or should they be translated in internationally recognized formats? What are the standards for punctuation and spelling and who makes the final decision?

In collaboration with the Council and professional translators, the Oregon Secretary of State created this Style Guide and translated elections glossaries in each language to provide consistency across all translated materials. The Oregon Secretary of State asks translators, vendors, county and city elections officials, and the Council to use this Oregon Secretary of State Style Guide and the Oregon Secretary of State Translated Glossary of Elections Terminology for all translated elections materials.

Standards

Topic & Background	Preferences	Examples
Abbreviations	Maintain source text. Even if abbreviations may be commonly understood, avoid introducing them unless in source text.
Abbreviation of “24/7”	Provide the source text shorthand 24/7, AND provide the translation of meaning in parentheses. Exception: Simplified and Traditional Chinese will provide the translation “all day,” 全天.	24/7 (las 24 horas del día, los 7 días de la semana) 24/7 (24 часа в сутки/ 7 дней в неделю)
Acronyms	The first time an acronym is introduced in the source text with its full English term equivalent, provide a translated full term, AND in parentheses, provide the English term and English acronym. After the first translation of the acronym, follow the use of abbreviations as in the source text, AND continue the format of English term and acronym in parentheses throughout the document. If the source text introduces an acronym without first providing the full-term equivalent, maintain as presented in the source text, without adding the “missing” full English term.	Address Confidentiality Program (ACP) Программа конфиденциальности адресов (Address Confidentiality Program ACP) 住址保密计划 (Address Confidentiality Program ACP) 주소 기밀 프로그램 (Address Confidentiality Program ACP) Chương trình bảo mật địa chỉ (Address Confidentiality Program ACP) USPS postmark Poststempel der US-Post (USPS)

Topic & Background	Preferences	Examples
	Exception: Spanish Provide a reference to the English source in parentheses. (por sus siglas en inglés) Exception: Russian When an English acronym uses identical English letters as the Cyrillic alphabet, translate the full English term and then provide the English acronym in parentheses.	Spanish Only: Programa de Domicilio Confidencial (Address Confidentiality Program (ACP, por sus siglas en inglés)) Russian only: PCP's are elected by precinct, 1 member for every 250 voters registered in the precinct. (minimum 2) Члены участковых комитетов (PCP) избираются по участкам, по 1 члену на каждые 250 избирателей, зарегистрированных на участке. (минимум 2)
Ballot Measures Voters will be able to match voter pamphlet ballot measure information to English ballot information, and be able to conduct searches of English, numbered measures in public elections databases, websites, and campaign literature.	Maintain source text number order of ballot measures, even in languages which read from right to left.	Propuesta 2-139 North Plains الإجراء 34-322 – مدينة Законопроект 2-140 提案 3-593
English source text referencing a secondary, non-translated voter resource Voters will be able to use translated pamphlets to associate and use English-only referenced instructions and resources.	Maintain the English reference to a secondary voter resource in English AND translate the resource. Maintain source text style and emphasizing punctuation, (bold, quotation marks, all capitals, italics, etc.). It may be acceptable to use parentheses for additional context.	A Yes vote would signify that you do want the City of Talent to use urban renewal financing to implement the Almeda Fire Recovery and Revitalization Plan. Bầu chọn là Có (Yes) có nghĩa là quý vị muốn Thành phố Talent (City of Talent) sử dụng nguồn tài trợ đổi mới đô thị để thực hiện Kế hoạch khôi phục và tái sinh sau hỏa hoạn Almeda.

Formal and Informal use of “You/ You all” in languages which distinguish between the two.	Translate using the formal form of “you.”
Gendered and Inclusive Language The Oregon Secretary of State envisions an Oregon without barriers where everyone has equitable access to our democracy. Translating the complex social, economic, and political dynamics implied by some terms is a challenge. Discussions about how best to build in equity using appropriate inclusive language continues in the Translation Advisory Council.	In gendered languages, follow traditional grammar rules and language authorities. Use gender neutral names of open office(s) in election contests regardless of the actual or perceived gender(s) of any candidates. For additional consideration of this topic, read the American Translator Association’s article “Words Matter, Identity Matters: Translating the Vocabulary of Diversity,” May 17, 2022.
